WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Despite a plight conceded to be critical, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces, aided by a freshly formed battalion of Bluejackets and Marines, reported today that they had repulsed another Japanese attack on their left flank.

The latest attack was another of a series made under cover of darkness and MacArthur reported to the war department that it was "sharply repulsed."

Meanwhile, the Philippine defenders continued to mop up tattered remnants of Japanese which had landed on the west coast of Bataan and infiltrated behind the American lines.

The defenders not only prevented the main Japanese force from sending reinforcements to their advance units but MacArthur's forces captured most of the food and ammunition dropped to the enemy fighters by parachute.

Severely Situation

Nevertheless, in the face of the valiant efforts by MacArthur and his brave little band of men, the conviction grew in Washington today that the situation on the Bataan Peninsula can be considered nothing less than serious for the defenders. The Japs are known to have a 10 to 1 superiority in manpower and (Continued On Page Five)

Assert Many Citizens Failing To Realize Real War Situation

By GEORGE DUNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Trusted advisors of President Roosevelt hammered away today on a proposal to furnish the American public with painful facts, if and as they arrive, about the progress of the war against the Axis.

The Washington military high command has been told that far too many citizens fail to realize the seriousness of the immediate situation, despite a wholehearted response to the purchase of defense bonds, civilian defense training, and general indignation over Pearl Harbor.

Foresee More Bad News

The move to "lay the facts on the line" did not develop as a result of any doubt of ultimate victory. Rather, the Washington strategists have reached the conclusion that 1942 will produce more bad news than good—and that therefore the nation should know the exact situation.

MOSCOW, Feb. 4.—Aided by Stormovik (dive) bombers which struck smashing blows at the Nazi, the Red armies accelerated their advance on all fronts today.

Far to the west of Moscow, latest reports said, the Russians now are within striking distance of the strategic German stronghold of Smolensk.

Vyazma, east and somewhat north of Smolensk, also was menaced by the Russian drive.

British military authorities in London said that despite evacuation of the Crimean port of Theodosia by Russian forces, they believed the Soviets are retaining a firm hold on the Kerch Peninsula, the eastern arm of the Crimea which stretches toward the coast of the oil-producing Caucasus.

The British radio said that "according to a Moscow broadcast, Red army reinforcements are hurrying to the relief of Leningrad."

"The broadcast, heard by CBS, added, 'On Tuesday, more than four hundred enemy officers and men were wiped out on one sector of this (Leningrad) front.'"

Nazis Use Reserves

On this sector, these advances stated, the Germans are throwing in still more reserves and launching violent counter-attacks in a desperate attempt to stave off the charging Soviets and retain their weakening grip on the Smolensk area.

Savage Battle Now Raging On Ambor Island

By JOSEPH J. KOSAK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BATAVIA, Feb. 4.—A savage, constantly shifting battle on Ambor Island where the important Amboro naval base is situated raged between Netherlands East Indies troops and Japanese invaders today.

The Amboro naval base is the second most important stronghold of its type in the Dutch East Indies, ranking only below the Surabaya base which Japanese planes attacked yesterday.

The Netherlands East Indies high command announced heavy fighting on Ambor Island and said the tide of battle was turning first to one side, then the other.

According to the new war communique, fighting also is in progress around Balikpapan, important oil center on the coast of Dutch East Borneo.

The communique added that between 70 and 80 Jap bombers escorted by fighters participated in yesterday's assault on the military airport at Surabaya and other East Java airdromes and towns.

Ten Planes Shot Down

It was stated that "presumably" eight enemy fighters and two bombers were shot down, while Netherlands losses were "very considerable."

"It is certain that we lost more planes than pilots but because of the fact that several fighters did not land at the same airdrome from which they started accurate details are unavailable at the moment," the communique announced.

Virtually Trapped British Forces Pierce Rommel's Line

By W. P. SAPHIRE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Feb. 4.—Fighting like tigers, the Fourth Indian Division has beaten off strong German detachments and blasted its way to a union with the main British motorized forces in the Libyan desert, the middle east command announced today.

The Indian troops had been virtually trapped by Nazi Gen. Erwin Rommel's reinforced army in the region outside Msus.

But today's announcement indicated they overcame all obstacles Rommel could throw in their path and reached the main British forces combatting Axis troops west of the strategic supply port of Derna.

Meanwhile, said the new communique, the principal British columns supported from the air were continuing their offensive operations in the desert northeast of Msus.

"After beating off strong German detachments attempting to intercept their withdrawal," the communique said, "the Fourth Indian Division during Monday night successfully rejoined our main forces."

"Our mobile columns, closely supported by the air forces, continued offensive activities in the desert northeast of Msus."

Heavy fighting was reported west of Derna as the British and Indians battled to halt Rommel's forces.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The war communique issued in Cairo today was authoritatively interpreted as meaning that imperial forces have quit the vital supply port of Derna in northern Libya.

This means, it was said, that the right flank of the British army has withdrawn 50 miles from Sionta in two days while the left flank, consisting of mobile columns, is still operating in the desert northeast of Msus, which presents an "unusual military situation."

Near "State Of Siege" In Amsterdam

New Sabotage Is Developing

New Outbreaks Are Also Reported In Nazi-Occupied Norway

REPORT FACTORIES ARE SET ON FIRE

(International News Service)
STOCKHOLM, Feb. 4.—The newspaper Tidningen reported from Berlin today that demonstrations and sabotage outbreaks in Amsterdam, Holland, have resulted in conditions "approaching a state of siege."

Civilians in Amsterdam were said to have been placed under strict curfew regulations and a number of arrests were reported.
New outbreaks of sabotage in Nazi-occupied Norway were reported also in Oslo dispatches which said four factories were set on fire yesterday, including Norway's largest rubber-processing plant at Askim.

A vast mill in the town of Drammen and a shipyard at Laksevaag also were reported set on fire. Several persons were arrested in Oslo.
Messages from the Norwegian capital said a police investigation revealed yesterday's explosion in the east railway station there was caused by a time bomb.
On Monday a bomb was thrown into the House of Parliament but caused only slight damage.

NATIONAL WAR FUND INCREASED

The increase, stated that this increase was deemed necessary because of the expanding front on which American forces are now fighting, which would necessitate the sending of Red Cross workers to each front.

The campaign was opened on December 8, the day following the attack on Pearl Harbor and since that time the needs of the Red Cross have become more specific. Our armed forces are increasing, resulting in increased demands for both the armed forces, as well as for their dependents at home, and for the training of many civilians in defense.

Mr. Davis states that it is not believed any further demands will be necessary if the $65,000,000 call is met, and with most chapters throughout the country exceeding their quota, it is believed the amount will be reached without additional solicitation in almost all communities.

The initial call in World War No. I was $100,000,000, with Lawrence county having a quota of $60,000 which was readily raised.

RUSSIAN FORCES SPEED ADVANCE SAYS MOSCOW

tains and now flung into battle, were reported smashing every Nazi counter-drive and inflicting heavy losses on the Germans.

Everywhere, it was claimed, the Russians are gaining ground.
A slashing Russian breakthrough in the eastern Ukraine was announced by the Soviet high command. In this sector, it was claimed, Nazi counter-attacks were ground down to defeat.

Reds Break Through

In one southern front, Soviet troops commanded by Marshal Semyon Timoshenko, advancing in a campaign to regain the Donetz basin and Ukraine, "broke through enemy lines and forced the enemy into speedy retreat," the Russian war communique said.

"The enemy left 1,300 dead on the battlefield," the communique added.
The London Daily Mail reported from Stockholm that the Russians, led by shock troops in white snow cloaks, opened a new offensive and smashed through German lines northwest of Rostov, capturing numerous villages from the Nazis. German counter-attacks were said to have failed, with heavy German losses in men and materials.

A British radio broadcast heard by both NBC and CBS quoted the Moscow radio as reporting:

Rush Forces From France

"Following the annihilation of the Launged front of the 7th German air-borne division from Crete and the 233rd German infantry division from Bordeaux, the Germans were forced to rush up the 225th infantry division from France to fill the gap."

Declaring the Red armies continued offensive operations on most sectors on the front, the Russian communique added:
"The enemy brought new reinforcements into the battle and counter-attacks in several sectors, but these attacks were repulsed with heavy losses. Our troops continued to advance."

NBC heard an Australian radio broadcast relaying a report that the Germans were preparing to evacuate Kharkov, Donetz Basin industrial center, to avoid encirclement of "vast German units located between Kharkov and Dniepropetrovsk." A London broadcast recorded by NBC quoted the Moscow radio as saying Russian troops were less than 20 miles east of Dniepropetrovsk.

BOMBERS SMASH JAPANESE FORCES

Thehong, 130 miles above Rangoon, in order to forestall any attempted enemy flanking movement. The main attacks were concentrated on the area from the mouth of the river to Paan, 40 miles north of Moulmein.

There was no confirmation of the Japanese claim that the Salween had been crossed at any point.
Backed by an estimated 100,000 troops pushing into central Burma from Thailand, Japanese invasion forces today pressed a furious attack on British positions along the Salween.

At midnight enemy air raiders bombed the market district of eastern Rangoon, causing a few casualties before they were driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

Keep Up Efforts

Despite a slashing and continuous machine-gun and bomb attack by R. A. P. planes, the Japanese were said to be continuing their efforts to gain beachheads along the river. Japanese landing parties in boats and barges which had attempted to cross the river in six places had been slaughtered by strafing planes, but the invasion tide came on.

The enemy spearhead presumably was aimed at Rangoon, the key city of the Burma road, 100 miles airline west of the scene of the present fighting.

But the British defenders appeared to be holding their own in a stubborn stand along the Salween's west bank, and an official Rangoon communique said imperial units were staging counter attacks locally.

72 hours, army and navy communiques highlighting developments in the Pacific war area have taken on a more realistic touch.

The army sifted into its reports of the incomparable stand of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's sturdy American-Philippine forces more than a hint that the Japanese are pressing a suicidal superiority, both land and air, toward ultimate possible domination of the main island of the Philippine group.

"Critical Situation"

Secretary of the Navy Knox told a congressional committee that the U. S. navy faces a "critical" situation because "we are trying to fight a two-ocean war with a one-ocean navy." Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, pointed out that American fighting ships are being called upon to patrol 70,000,000 square miles of ocean.

Some of the federal pulse-takers very recently complained that radio broadcasts and newspaper headlines were giving the public a false sense of security of overlying incidental victories of the United States forces.

Those who listened to the complaint promptly admitted some error on their part but suggested vigorously that the army and navy might be held primarily responsible because of the phrasing of their daily war communiques.

Must Have Truth

It was suggested that less emphasis be placed on deed of individual heroism and more information given about the probable outcome of each engagement.

At least one federal official agreed with this argument.

Although fully convinced that the American public as a whole still fails to realize that 1942 may have many long dark nights before an inevitable dawn of victory, he said, in effect:

"The only thing upon which democracy can flourish is the truth." It was called to the attention of the government officials that the British have been most frank in their appraisal of war developments. Prime Minister Winston Churchill, it was recalled, has amplified his "blood, sweat and tears" epic to encompass developments in the immediate future—still holding steadfast to a prediction of ultimate victory for the democracies.

BLACKOUT IN PHILADELPHIA IS SUCCESSFUL

from an Eastern Airlines transport plane declared the blackout, allowing for defense plants which did not participate, was "99 per cent perfect."

Citizens Cooperate

Although citizens cooperated wholeheartedly with the drill, he reported, tops of many tall structures were silhouetted by a full winter moon and a star-light sky. Also revealed, he said, were the symmetrical avenues of unlighted streets patterned long ago by William Penn. For 10 minutes before until 10 minutes after the blackout, the plane—placed at the disposal of Philadelphia's Mayor Bernard Samuel by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines—circled the cities of Philadelphia and Camden, N. J., at a cruising speed of 180 miles an hour and an altitude of 2,500 feet.

Covered by the blackout, which was designed to guide future defense of this vital area against Axis bombers, were Philadelphia, Delaware, Chester, Bucks and Montgomery counties in eastern Pennsylvania, and Camden, Gloucester and Burlington counties in southern New Jersey.

From the plane, the shining ribbons of the Delaware and Schuylkill rivers reflected in the moonlight but no moving vehicles could be seen. The blacked-out Philadelphia Navy yard—most vital defense plant of all—was not visible from the air.

Not a single serious crime was reported in the entire area and accidents were at a minimum—although one man was killed in a fall.

"GUEST DAY" SPEAKER MARKS WOMAN'S CLUB

Celebrities present no real obstacle to Edwin A. Rowlands, collector of autographs who has in his possession 3011 signatures of persons having achieved top rank in their various fields. Presented to a guest-audience of the Woman's Club by Mrs. Robert Eckles in the Highland "U. P. church, Mr. Rowlands related his adventures in autograph hunting across the length and breadth of this land.

Mr. Rowlands is convinced that having a hobby brings out one's personality, makes one more interesting to others and provides a use for leisure time. He suggests three avenues for self-interest in pursuing a pet interest: physical activity as in golf, creating things as in photography, and collecting as in stamps.

Changing his avocation to a vocation, he illustrates his talk by displaying enlarged autographed photographs of famous celebrities ranging from the President to Shirley Temple and including Lily Pons, Katherine Hepburn, Charles Evans Hughes, Albert Einstein, Helen Keller and Henry Ford in between, all of whom have hobbies. "Having a hobby is a liberal education; it gives self assurance to the follower and may prove profitable."

The program was enhanced by the music of Miss Nancy Moore, young soprano who pleased her audience with "Jesu Bambino" by Yon. Miss Jean Crawford accompanied at the piano.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. John E. Elliott, announcement was made of the plans of the ways and means committee for a fund raising offering to be taken April 6.

An invitation was extended to view colored pictures of artistic flower arrangement in the Methodist church February 18 at 2:30 p. m., with the conservation and garden department in charge.

CHILE'S CHOICE GOOD OMEN FOR U. S.

RECENT elections in Chile, coming on the heels of the Inter-American Conference at Rio de Janeiro, produced results distinctly pleasing to the United States. As an aftermath of agreements reached at Rio, all but two of the South American republics have broken relations with Germany, Japan and Italy. The election as president of Chile of Juan Antonio Rios makes it likely that this important country will soon fall in line, leaving Argentina as the sole hold-out.

The president-elect's defeated opponent, General Carlos Ibanez del Campo, did not, in so many words, class himself as pro-Axis and anti-United States, but his record and the company he has kept have spoken louder than words.

Lined up behind his candidacy, for instance, were the notorious Vanguardias, the Chilean equivalent of the Nazis, and the Fascist Falange organization. German and Japanese pressure, throughout the campaign, was directed at the defeat of Rios and the election of Ibanez.

The latter's record in Chilean affairs, while not directly anti-United States perhaps, is definitely Fascist-tinged. He seized control of the presidency at one time and ruled as dictator until he was deposed and sent, for several years, into exile.

His come-back as successor to the democratic Aguirre Cerda would have cheered the Axis and encouraged its efforts to destroy American collaboration.

Rios has been quick to proclaim his victory as "a triumph" for the democratic ideal and an annihilation of totalitarian forces, as well as a reaffirmation of continental solidarity. His election unquestionably brings Chile closer to the United States, further away from the Axis.

PHILIPPINE GOLD

It may surprise many Americans to learn that the Philippines mine enough gold to make them second in annual production in American-held territory, California being first. The output annually accredits California with 24 per cent, the Philippines with 19 per cent and Alaska with 12 per cent.

Last year the Philippine mines yielded $38,835,065 in gold. The total for all American territory reached $205,455,795, which was a trifle less than the output in 1940. There was also a drop last year in the copper output of American mines, while mining of lead showed an increase.

In temporary possession of the Philippine gold mines Japan is expected to work them intensively, but it is not plain what if anything Japan can now buy with gold or from whom.

CONGRESS SHOULD STAY ON THE JOB

Not every day, particularly in an election year, is there opportunity to send up ringing cheers for Congress. But when Senator Lister Hill, Democratic whip of the Senate, serves notice that Congress must stay in continuous session for the duration of the war, the fact is well worthy of public commendation. "There is no chance," says Senator Hill, "for any vacation or holiday. Congress must be on the alert to act with speed on whatever comes along." This is the proper attitude.

If Congress had not stayed on the job in that hot summer of 1940, following the fall of France, our air defenses and our two-ocean Navy wouldn't be so far along as they now are. At such a time as this the place for Congress is on the job in Washington, regardless of the fact that in November the whole House membership and thirty-four senators are to be elected.

OIL STRATEGY

As the strategy of the war lords at Tokyo unfolds, one reason—perhaps the chief reason—for their eagerness to include Australia in their conquests is becoming more evident. Their purpose in seizing the continent would be to insure sea movement of their Indies oil supplies should they capture the Dutch wells and get them back into production. It is believed they could complete the task of putting ruined wells into production in six months.

Even though Britain should be forced out of Singapore and the Dutch out of Java and its sister islands, the Allies using Australia for naval and air bases could tear up Japan's lines of oil supply and make that country's chief war prize next to worthless.

In the meanwhile Australians preparing to make a fight for their land can be expected to increase the pressure on Britain for a Maximum of naval and air assistance. A survey of the situation shows that the stand the Australians have taken for the need of this assistance is good strategy.

"TOTAL WAR PRODUCTION"

Secretary of Labor Perkins, in a statement of policy on war production, has approved some modification of State labor laws that now prevent maximum operation of factories.

Acknowledging the difficulties that industries face where shortages of skilled labor seriously impede the output of goods, he goes so far as to recommend that the labor standards of States be relaxed to permit longer working weeks should that be necessary for total war production. She opposes, however, any "blanket" suspension of existing labor standards.

Does anybody responsible for the manufacture of armaments believe that "total war production" is something which should be subject to the vacillating policy of the Secretary of Labor's office? The present problem of many a small manufacturing plant able to obtain the materials and labor it needs is how to operate without fear of violating the wages and hours act. That is a "blanket" act which imposes on all interstate commerce certain rigid restrictions interpreted solely by one administrator.

That act was adopted in June, 1938, fifteen months before the invasion of Poland, yet its peacetime standards are still enforced on plants that are now working on a wartime schedule.

Whispers for a seven-day week to speed war production are again being heard in Washington. The 40-hour week may yet become a war casualty.

It will cost $100 more per capita to live in the United States this year than last year, it is alleged. But it always was worth more than it cost, regardless of the cost.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT CHILD THEFT

"Dear Dr. Myers:—I notice that most of your advice to parents is about the young child, but thought you might offer some suggestions to help us our nineteen-year-old boy. I am sorry and heart-broken to admit he takes money from his parents. He has always had spending money, has worked a little recently and also has that. He will not tell us what he spends it for or who his companions are. It is impossible to get any information from him. We don't think he has taken anything from others, but want to break him of this terrible habit. I sincerely hope it is not too late. I enclose stamped envelope."

The Doctor's Advice

It is never too late. I can imagine how you must feel. First I believe you should not ask him to tell how he used his money, who his friends are, nor pry into any of his personal affairs.

Put your trust in regaining his confidence and companionship so he will feel he is a worthy member of a family in which everybody is proud of everybody else. Try to be good hosts to his friends and make them feel so welcome at your home they will choose to return often and bring others with them.

Established Companionship

Once having re-established a companionable relationship, I feel sure the boy would not care to steal from you—he just couldn't—or deceive you in other ways. Nor would he likely then to steal from others. I believe you can do this.

To parents of younger children: the first thing you are likely to want to do if your child steals from you—and stealing like charity begins at home—is to find some punishment which will break him of this terrible habit as did the anxious mother of that boy. Yet this is the last thing you should think of. You should think first of ways to regain the child's affection, esteem, and companionship. You should work on yourself rather than the child.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. At what age can a child assist in his understanding?

A. From nine to fifteen months. A chart indicating what a baby may be able to do at various ages may be had by writing and enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. Please indicate the age of your child.

KNITTING DUTY

My lady knitted once again
The warm, wool socks for soldier men
Her needles and her fingers, too,
Are busy all the long day through
And I've a task of lesser kind
Which is to hold the wool to wind.

Time was when both were we
She knitted thus for soldiery;
The sock the sweater and the cap
For many a gallant fighting chap
And then, to patient toil resigned,
I sat and held her wool to wind.

That time — 'twas twenty years ago
We said: "No more of war we'll know!
No more will women fill their laps
With knitting stuff for soldier chaps.
No more will husbands, sleep inclined,
Sit up and hold the wool to wind."

Now there she sits, her tresses gray,
Knitting for soldiers night and day
And war is here, and none can see
Again when peace on earth shall be
And here am I, my hands entwined
With knitting wool she has to wind.

RECREATION ROOM

Ever since her pretty daughters began to enter their late teens a neighbor of mine has lived in distress because they have insisted on entertaining the boys at other girls' houses. Now she has solved the problem by fixing up in her basement a recreation room with a central dance space, a radio, bridge tables and equipment for table tennis. The necessary investment was not great and the dividends are relief of the parental mind from worry as to what her daughters were doing away from home, and also relief of the children from boredom of sitting home in the living-room immediately beneath parental eyes. Another asset to my neighbor is the discovery that she has suddenly become popular with her daughters and their friends. They no longer consider her a chaperon trying to spoil their fun.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: I am a widow about to remarry. How should my announcements be worded?—W.

Answer: If you are young, your parents (or nearest living relative) should announce your marriage just as they did when you were first wed. If you are of mature age and your new husband may issue your own announcements, thus: Mrs. John Smith and Mr. William Hoyt have the honor to announce their marriage, etc., etc.

If you prefer to omit your husband's name, you may in this one instance, say, instead, "Mrs. Helen Smith."

Dear Miss Markel: When is the joint visiting card of husband and wife used?—B. C.

Answer: When sending flowers to a funeral, an ill friend, a debutante, etc., and when sending wedding presents or any other joining gift, the double card should be enclosed. It is used also when formal visits are paid.

Dear Miss Markel: My baby will be christened soon. Must we give a fee to the clergyman or is this unnecessary?—Mother.

Answer: You should give him a fee of not less than $5, if you can afford it.

HIS DILEMMA

The street car was crowded and the rear platform jammed. The stout lady who had just got on vainly endeavored to locate her purse which was tightly buttoned up beneath her cloak as a precaution against pickpockets. After she had struggled in vain for a few moments, a gentleman in front of her said: "Madam, please allow me to pay your fare."

The stout lady declined with graceless thanks and some acerbity as she recommenced her search for the concealed purse. Again the gentleman addressed her:

"Madam, please, please, for heaven's sake let me pay your fare! You have already unbuckled my suspenders three times and I can't stand it any longer!"

What's What At A Glance

Post War Slumps Are Held Not Inevitable
War Developing Productive Capacity Here
Ability To Pay For Needs Will Be Factor

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Peace-time requirements for our country's production of everything are just as great as war time's, according to Prof. Alvin H. Hansen, Harvard's noted economist, and on that proposition, so stated, probably not many authorities will argue contrarily.

The professor advances his thesis in connection with a study, recently completed by him and just released in the form of a report by the National Resources Planning Board, to which he's special adviser.

The nub of it is that Dr. Hansen doesn't consider post-war economic depressions inevitable, and maybe he can prove it, as to the future, but he doesn't stop there; he goes on to say that experience doesn't support the theory of such depressions' inevitability.

I never heard it contradicted that that's exactly what all past experience HAS indicated.

Dr. Hansen recognizes that war is developing our productive capacity far in excess of civilians' demands on it. Some observers take the view that the conflict presently being ended, demands on our plants, on our labor and on our farmers will slump back to their peacetime normal, which won't absorb their previously overgrown outputs, and that that'll involve a crash and then a prolonged depression.

By no means necessarily, rejoins the professor; by leading much more abundant civilian lives, we'll sop up all our surpluses of energy, directly.

Up to that point he makes out a pretty good case.

Darned, few folk have more of the necessities and luxuries of life than they want. If they can get more of them, unquestionably they will be perfectly acquiescent.

But will they be able to pay for them?

If not, the stuff will be available but there won't be a market for it. Peacetime buying, he would-be civilian customers by the government.

The government does it largely on credit, up to 30 or 100 billions, and the debt runs along for as long as the government finds it convenient to continue it. An ordinary purchaser needs cash, or, if he trades on tick, has to foot his bill some time short of three or four generations on into infinity.

Civilian demand won't blow up immediately following peace's restoration. It didn't the last time. No, consumerism will be half starved to death for domestic supplies and its wartime wages left on hand, and it will buy like fury.

Dr. Hansen concedes as much and says it ought to be restrained, or it'll result in a boom. He recognizes that slumps follow booms, that hard times follow slumps, and he's afraid of them. He says a boom's our "gravest danger."

What's to prevent a boom, though?

Taxes As Brakes
Well, high taxation ought to do it. We'll have that, all right. Quite likely it'll put a ceiling on civilian over-buying. But, if so, why won't it also prevent civilian absorption of war-expanded production? Its direction into civilian channels?

It takes quite a while for a war to make its after-effects felt. We all remember that it took a dozen years for 1914-18 to get in its deadly work. The Spanish-American scrap wasn't much of a conflict, but it did have something of an aftermath quite a bit later.

The War of the Successors was too far back for my recollection, but I do recall a carking, mean depression in 1893, and President Melvin A. Traylor of the First National Bank of Chicago, long dead now, told me that he considered it the last thunderclap of that convulsion, nearly 30 years delayed.

I'd think that this one is of sufficient proportions to hang fire for a century.

Where professor Hansen gets his dope to the purport that experience doesn't prove wars to have preceded awful economic periods is a good deal of mystery. He's a great economist, I know, but I'll be interested to check up on him, 10 or 20 or 50 or 100 years hence.

He's a cheerful prophet, anyway.

Diseases in young children differ from those of later life. Many infant diseases are due to prenatal agents or factors. Certain family diseases may be inherited.

Such as degeneration of the nervous system and muscle diseases may be inherited. Allergy and some infectious diseases may be inherited.

Diseases of the mother may be transmitted at birth. Especially is this true of syphilis, very rarely of tuberculosis. Malformations are often seen in the newborn.

These include harelip, cleft palate and spina bifida. There are diseases and accidents of birth.

Many infant problems have to do with growth and nutrition. Some tiny babies present big problems.

Twenty-Third Annual Session Will Take Place In Liberty Grange Hall

TO HAVE SHOW IN CONNECTION

Lawrence county wool growers are looking forward to Saturday, when the 23rd annual meeting of the Lawrence County Wool Growers association will take place in the Liberty Grange hall, beginning at 10 o'clock. A banquet will be served at noon to the growers by the ladies of Liberty Grange.

The wool show, which is a regular part of the annual meeting, will have classes for pure bred fine wool, rams and ewes, pure bred medium wool rams, and one-half, three-eighths and quarter blood fleeces. Premiums will be awarded as has been the custom in the past, by the First National Bank of Lawrence County.

All wool must have been shorn prior to July 1, 1941, and each exhibitor will be limited to not more than two entries in any one class. Each exhibitor must have pooled his wool with the local association during the year of 1941 in order to be eligible to exhibit.

At the business session seven directors will be elected to serve during the coming year. J. L. Burton, president of the association, will preside.

Discussion of the lamb improvement program in the county will be led by County Agent H. R. McCulloch; Kenneth Hood, State college specialist, will discuss "What We Can Expect of the Future in the Livestock Industry"; and W. B. Connell, of State college, will show some pictures of the sheep industry in Pennsylvania and will discuss other matters of interest to growers.

NEW JAPANESE ATTACK REPULSED IN PHILIPPINES

appear determined to wipe out the American-Filipino army regardless of cost in blood and material.

MacArthur devoted a portion of his report to the war department today to describing the reactions of Japanese soldiers which have been captured.

He stated that captured Japanese troops told him frankly they were amazed at the humane treatment being given them.

MacArthur reported that the prisoners had been warned by their officers that they would be executed by the Americans if they were captured.

Heartening, however, was the army's confirmation that seven heavy American Army bombers had sunk two enemy transports and badly damaged a third at Balikpapan, Borneo, on the Straits of Macassar.

It was the fourth successful bombing raid by U. S. Army bombers in that area. In three previous raids, the bombers sunk three transports, damaged two and crippled a cruiser.

Official Communiqué

The following is the text of war department's 91st communiqué:

"Philippine theater. During the night of Feb. 3 elements of the 16th (Kimura) division made a local attack on our left flank in Bataan. The attack was sharply repulsed.

"Our troops continued to mop up tattered remnants of the Japanese who had previously landed on the west coast or who had infiltrated behind our lines.

"These enemy troops were from the Tatori group and the Kimura division and were found in isolated pockets. No reinforcements were able to reach them. The enemy had attempted to supply them intermittently with food and ammunition dropped by parachute. However, most of these supplies fell into our hands.

"Japanese prisoners of war expressed great surprise at the humane treatment they were receiving at our hands.

"They said they had been told that we would execute all prisoners. "On our right there was little activity during the past 24 hours.

"Enemy air activity over our lines was limited to a few sporadic bombing attacks which did no damage.

"Netherlands Indies: A delayed report advises that seven heavy American bombers of the flying fortress type attacked Japanese shipping at Balikpapan, Borneo, on February 2.

"Two enemy transports were sunk and a third, which was hit repeatedly, was probably sunk. All of our planes returned to their base undamaged.

"It is believed that this attack is the one mentioned in General Wavell's communiqué of yesterday. "There is nothing to report from other areas."

Other War Front News

Other news from the war fronts was both good and bad. The navy in its night communiqué reported that a motor torpedo boat from Admiral C. Hart's Far Eastern command probably scored torpedo hits on a Japanese warship in Manila Bay.

At the same time, the Navy said that a naval tanker, the U. S. S. Neches, has been torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine at an undisclosed spot. Of the tanker's crew, 126 were said to be safely in port while 56 still were unaccounted for.

The navy failed to explain how an enemy warship was able to slip by the guns on Corregidor and other American-held forts to enter Manila Bay. Observers speculated, however, that the vessel might have slipped in under cover of darkness.

The navy's disclosure that American Bluejackets and Marines now are fighting with MacArthur aroused speculation at first that reinforcements had reached the defenders. Official sources, however, discounted that theory and explained the battalion of from 500 to 800 men probably was made up of naval and marine units who have been in that area since the start of the war.

The torpedo boat raid did indicate, however, that Admiral Hart's naval units still are contesting Japan's dominance of the waters in the Manila area. It was the third raid of its type by Hart's speedy and hard-hitting "Mosquito" boats. In two previous attacks in Subic Bay, similar craft sunk two 5,000-ton enemy vessels.

In the latest encounter, the small U. S. vessel darted into the bay and launched its torpedoes "under heavy fire of the warship's guns and in the full glare of searchlights."

An old English law had a sliding scale of fines for profanity, to-wit: "For each profane oath or curse a laborer, soldier or sailor may be fined one shilling, others persons under the rank of gentleman, two shillings; a gentleman or anyone above that rank, five shillings."

Speaks Tonight At Cosmo Club

RABBI DOPPELT

This evening at the Cosmo club at 8:15 o'clock, Rabbi Frederic A. Doppelt, of Fort Wayne, Ind., will address a joint open meeting of the New Castle lodge of B'nai B'rith and the Lawrence county Zionist district.

Rabbi Doppelt is a graduate of University of Cincinnati and was ordained at the Hebrew Union college in 1931. While occupying the pulpit of Saginaw, Mich., he gave a series of lectures under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on topics dealing with national and international issues. As rabbi in Elmira, N. Y., for six years, he won recognition for his work as a member of the New York state national housing committee and the New York state committee for Finnish relief.

In 1940 Rabbi Doppelt was called to Ft. Wayne. Last year he delivered a series of lectures on "A Comparative Study of Judaism and Christianity," which drew much attention. This year he has given a series at the Ft. Wayne Y. M. C. A. on "The Challenge of Religion to the World Today."

No Present Plans For Large Increase In Rationing Moves

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4. — Gov. Arthur H. James today said he had received assurances from Frank Bane, in charge of federal rationing of commodities, that the government had no plans at present for any extensive increase in rationing.

Rationing plans now contemplate restrictions on the sale of automobiles and sugar, in addition to tires, Governor James quoted Bane as saying. There were no plans on foot to extend the rationing soon to other commodities, such as clothing and additional food supplies.

Three Are Killed In Auto Crash

(International News Service)

MOUNTAIN VIEW, N. J., Feb. 4. —Three members of a Hackensack, N. J., family were killed and a Cincinnati woman injured early today in a head-on automobile collision near Mountain View.

The dead were Mrs. Lena Carley, 58, her daughter, Mrs. E. Jeannette Batson, 31, driver of one car; and the latter's son, William Batson, Jr., 10, who died in a hospital several hours after the crash.

Mrs. Marie Weeman, 32, Cincinnati, O., an occupant of the other machine, was injured.

RIDGWAY MAN HAS FATAL HEART ATTACK

Word has been received by Mrs. F. F. Urey of Laurel boulevard that her uncle, E. Grant Williams of Ridgway, Pa., died Tuesday of a heart attack.

Williams, who was president of the Ridgway National bank, leaves his widow and two daughters, Mrs. C. E. Ingham of Jamestown, N. Y., and Margaret at home.

Would Get Even

So far, the war, as far as Marcel Lenthreu was concerned, has been entirely too one-sided. Axis action sent him to the bottom of the Straits of Dover in a submarine, bombed him from a destroyer and then blew him from the deck of the rescue ship, meanwhile inflicting various shrapnel and machine gun bullet wounds on him. Sick of taking it, Marcel wants to dish it out—so here he is in Boston, trying to enlist. He probably will be accepted by the navy as soon as he becomes an American citizen.

Guest Speaker At K. Of C. Dinner-Club

Charles Matthews, Jr., Speaks On Growth Of United States At Dinner-Meeting

Tuesday evening in the K. of C. Home, North Jefferson street, former Judge Charles Matthews, Jr., addressed the Knights of Columbus Dinner club.

Mr. Matthews took for his theme "E Pluribus Unum"—"Out Of Many One" tracing the growth of the United States from the thirteen small original colonies to the forty-eight states, welded together in the one common bond of unity with liberty. Attention was called to the unique situation existing in the world today. Two-thirds of the civilized world at war. The false principal of the "Superman" subjugating the many to the few. Intellectual fear being instilled into the minds of those to be conquered. Our duty as non-combatant citizens to preserve the institutions which we have nurtured and which must be preserved—namely a government, for the people, of the people and by the people.

Joseph Ritty was chairman for the evening. A short business meeting followed the dinner served at 6:30 o'clock with the appointment of Attorney Walter Kieler in charge of the next meeting.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Discussion club under the direction of Rev. Father Michael P. Hinnebusch held their informal gathering. Grand Knight Francis J. Augustine led the Discussion club. The topic for discussion was "Catholicity Is Historical Christianity." John Gallagher was appointed secretary of the group and is in charge of the next meeting on February 17.

News Briefs From City Hall

Finance Director James L. Fink, who recently underwent a serious operation in the Jameson Memorial hospital, is reportedly resting easy, according to a report reaching city hall today. His many friends were glad to receive the news. The finance director is well regarded by all city employees and they are hoping his condition becomes improved.

City police placed under arrest yesterday one Dean Clark, Butler avenue vicinity, and placed him in custody of Alderman James C. Brice before whom warrants charging Clark with forgery were sworn to by Abraham Shapiro, Moravia street; Alex Beshoro, West Long avenue, and Abraham Alansky, East Long avenue. Clark was committed to jail pending a hearing later this week.

Police today were searching for a man who reportedly stole the auto of Arthur Weir, Wampum, from West Washington street, and which reportedly crashed against and broke a telephone pole at West Washington street and Lowery avenue. The car was damaged and the driver assertedly received lacerations of the face and right leg.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne conducted traffic court following police court this morning. None of the four who received tags and asked for exemption from a fine were penalized. Their reasons for having received tags satisfied the mayor they deserved exemption.

HEAVY BRITISH GUNS POUNDING ENEMY COLUMNS

willings hands as soldiers and civilian volunteers pitched in to make the great fortress impregnable.

All indications were that a major Japanese attack is imminent.

The small formation of enemy raiders bombed the Singapore city area this morning.

Meanwhile, authorities announced 22 persons were killed and 90 injured in yesterday's raids.

Blast Jap Columns

Firing without pause, massive British artillery pieces blasted at Japanese transport columns converging on Johore Bahru at the southern tip of the Malayan Peninsula across the now wrecked causeway between the island and the mainland.

Every hour hundreds of Chinese residents of Singapore volunteered their services to aid military authorities.

So steadily did the Japanese dive-bombers and high-level bombers attack that air raids were becoming an accepted feature of life in threatened Singapore.

But everywhere in this great cosmopolitan city, from large European offices to the humbled native coffee shops, signs proclaimed:

"Business as usual."

Flocking to volunteers stations, civilians aided construction of shore-line defenses as the Japs pressed their aerial assaults.

No Panic Created

Far from creating panic, the air blows of the enemy stiffened the will of the population to resist as the siege developed into a life and death ordeal for defending troops and residents alike.

The Jap air attacks were continued obvious preparation for an attempted invasion of the beleaguered Far Eastern base. But Singapore's civilian population of 750,000 remained calm under the constant hammering.

Flames caused by bombs dotted the city and other parts of the island, but were kept in check by island and volunteer fire fighters. Other civilian volunteers toiled along the coast line to build additional defense works against the invasion attempt which is expected at any moment.

One veteran military observer said the residents of this "cross-roads" between east and west were responding to the emergency "just like the people of Leningrad," who resisted and beat off a five-month Nazi siege.

Postponement Of New Parole Act Will Be Asked

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4.—The special session of the legislature, scheduled to meet sometime this month, will be asked to postpone the effective date of the new parole act "for the duration of the war," Gov. Arthur H. James disclosed today. The action had been forecast some time ago.

The governor said he felt such an important body should not be created during a period of emergency when the best men for the job might not be available, due to war work. He pointed out that once the parole system was set up, officials and employees are in "for good," as they will be appointed under civil service.

Don't 'Phone Trivial Complaints To City Police Headquarters

Do not telephone trivial complaints to police headquarters. War is here and one unimportant telephone call may "block out" an important call, which, if received promptly may help save life and property.

The foregoing request was made today by Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen who heads a force that most likely will be first to go into action should any untoward incident occur here.

McMullen explained that, day and night, police sergeants who have multitudinous duties to perform, in addition to directing police activities must take time out to answer calls, as follows:

Dogs running loose, or barking.

Are streets asked?

What time is it?

Do you know when the next bus leaves for ...?

Who was involved in the auto accident?

Complaints concerning tags for parking meter violations.

"Police sergeants are courteous. However, when they answer a telephone over which an unimportant complaint is made, an important call may be "blocked out" he asserted.

"Such calls as "dogs running loose"; "whether or not streets are asked"; "the time of day or night"; and complaints about parking tags are not important police functions during war time.

City Force On Alert

"Enemy aliens admittedly are scattered throughout the United States. It may be that, some of them would be saboteurs, and may attempt to cripple industry or public utilities.

"In case any such attempt is discovered and a telephone call is attempted out 'blocked out', it may mean the loss of life or the destruction of vital property.

"Let us co-operate for the benefit of all concerned. Our boys are fighting in all sections of the world. We back home, must keep essential goods to them.

"Of course some may imagine that such a small thing as a trivial telephone call cannot cause harm. Relative to this I would say 'Take nothing for granted'.

"Pearl Harbor was an instance. We were attacked without warning. An enemy doesn't 'brass band' his effort. Let us settle down and eliminate unimportant things.

In regard to tags, the chief said that no complaint would receive consideration by telephone. Traffic court is held at 9 a. m. daily. That is where all complaints are settled.

"Pawnee Bill" Is Claimed By Death

Close Friend Of Late Buffalo
Bill Dies In Oklahoma At Age Of 82

(International News Service)

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 4.—"Pawnee Bill," one of the most colorful figures of the old west, was gone today. The one-time partner, and close friend of the late Buffalo Bill died quietly last night at the age of 82.

His real name was Major Gordon W. Lillie, but to most of his friends and acquaintances, particularly to those who recalled the exploits of his earlier years, he remained "Pawnee Bill."

He had been in failing health since an automobile accident in September, 1936, in which he was severely injured and his famous wife, the former May Manning of Philadelphia, was killed.

Many years ago he was adopted by the Pawnee Indian tribe at Pawnee as a white chief and that gave him the name he bore the remainder of his life. He was only 17 when he became a teacher and interpreter at the Pawnee agency.

With a band of the tribesmen, he joined the "Buffalo Bill" troupe in the early 1880's. He married Miss Manning, the daughter of a Philadelphia physician, in 1888.

The bride learned to ride and shoot. As the renown of the couple spread, "Pawnee Bill" established his own wild west outfit. It flourished and in 1908 the "Buffalo Bill" and "Pawnee Bill" wild west shows were combined.

The Berlin Lokalanzeiger, said BBC, explained that lack of rolling stock and the fact that railroad men now are serving in the army were the reasons for the curtailment. Priority must be given, said Lokalanzeiger, to troop trains from various occupied countries in the east.

Dive Bombing Perfected By Naval Fliers

U. S. Naval Fliers Adept In Latest Methods Of Attack

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

ABOARD A MAN-O-WAR WITH THE U. S. PACIFIC FLEET, Feb. 4, American naval aviators originated and perfected the deadly technique of dive bombing, the fame of the German Stukas notwithstanding, and the Americans still are the champions, at least in this part of the world, despite the well known faculty of the Japanese for imitation.

The Japanese had their inning, at Pearl Harbor and the air fields on the island of Oahu, with everything in their favor. The setup was perfect and it may be assumed they did their best. This, in a general way, wasn't bad either, but their dive bombing was nothing to go into parades of praise over.

I didn't see it, but I've seen the results and have the word of many people who were there.

However, I was sitting in when the Americans had their first inning and can testify personally that their technique was far superior to that reported of the Japanese, and their accuracy was beyond reproach.

This is being written from a heavy cruiser ploughing through choppy seas far from our western shores. A few minutes ago the strident tones of the general quarters gong sounded throughout the ship, sending every officer and man at top speed to their battle stations. The gong means the enemy is near, or believed to be.

From the communications bridge I looked across a narrow stretch of foam-flecked water to a huge aircraft carrier. Planes, like falcons, were flying off her broad deck into the skies, there to get quickly into formation and zoom up toward the sun. Through binoculars I followed them.

Dive Bombing

Suddenly they started turning in quick, graceful dives toward the sea. They dropped with the speed of a meteor, almost straight down, their motors wide open. Down, down they came until it seemed they'd surely crash into the tossing waves. But they didn't. At the last instant, they pulled out of their terrific dives and pulled the releases on their bombs. Great geysers of white water shot into the air beneath them, in a close circle, evidence of their deadly accurate aim. They not only hit their target; they peppered it. Japanese submarines and other craft which turn up missing, details of which cannot be disclosed at this time, will be silent testimonials to the amazing skill of these daring young American war birds of the navy.

In contrast to their accuracy, I counted ten bomb craters in an open field alongside a building at a certain military airfield near Pearl Harbor on the island of Oahu. Japanese dive bombers had scored that many misses. The Americans I saw would have riddled the structure. They'd have dumped their "eggs" down the chimney and hung their heads in everlasting shame over a miss.

As for technique, the Japanese fliers didn't dive, but glided in, according to eyewitnesses, thereby becoming more vulnerable to anti-aircraft fire and likewise becoming less accurate.

Maybe the story, which went the rounds some time ago, is true. It was to the effect that the Japanese saw a motion picture of American naval dive bombers in action, their first glimpse of this hazardous method of attack. They recognized its worth at once and started practicing diligently—until so many of them killed themselves they had to be restrained. They copied the technique perfectly, except they failed to pull out of their dives.

War Means More Women Graduates Get Employment

Larger Proportion Of Pennsylvania State Co-ed Graduates Also Get Married

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Feb. 4—A nation at war evidently means that more women graduates of the Pennsylvania State college get jobs and more get married.

According to figures compiled from a survey just completed by Dean of Women Charlotte E. Ray, only two per cent of the women graduated in the class of 1941 are unemployed. Forty-one out of 236 are already married.

The number of unemployed 1941 graduates is noticeably lower than the proportion in recent classes during the same period after graduation. Ten per cent of the 1939 and 1940 classes were without work; 19 per cent of the class of 1938; six per cent of the class of 1937; and 18.5 per cent of the class of 1936.

Replies from the 1941 class show that 162 are employed; 21 are engaged in graduate study, and 41 are married. Only seven failed to answer the questionnaire.

The most evident shift in occupations for last June's graduates is to marriage, where the percentage is 17 compared with 14 from the year before. Highest record of placement was recorded by the department of home economics. Eighty-six out of 88 graduates in this field secured positions.

Various occupations of 1941 graduates are:
Teaching, 81; marriage, 41; dietetics, food demonstration work, 29; accountants, clerical, and secretarial work, 21; graduate study, 18; employed in stores and restaurants, 11; laboratory technicians and chemists, 6; special and personnel work, 6; newspaper work and advertising, 4; miscellaneous, 4.

Worst Winter Driving May Still Be Ahead

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4—Regardless of whether the groundhog saw his shadow Monday or not the worst winter driving weather may still be ahead, T. Elmer Transeau, state director of highway safety, said today.

"Winter is here for some time to come and it means every driver and pedestrian must redouble efforts to avoid accidents and traffic tie-ups which hinder our war production of offensive and national economy," Transeau said.

"Orders of the day follow:
1. Reduce speeds to conserve tires and prevent accidents.
2. Put on anti-skid chains when packed snow or ice prevails.
3. Traffic tie-ups and skid-wrecks must be avoided."

Transeau also reminded drivers that letting air out of tires for added traction is ineffective and seriously damages sidewalls, causing early blow-outs. Normal pressures should be maintained; tire chains used when needed, and it is now extra important to correct faulty brakes and misalignment of wheels which cause fast and unnecessary wear. Reduced speeds, he said, are definitely more economical on tires, gas and the car.

HUNT SLAYER OF SIX-YEAR-OLD CALIFORNIA GIRL

Brutal Crime Spurs Search

Girl Is Strangled To Death With Her Bright Hued Skipping Rope

BODY IS FOUND COVERED IN SAND

(International News Service)
SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Feb. 4.—With only the vaguest description of the suspect to guide them in their search, police and sheriff's deputies scoured southern California today for the brutal slayer of six-year-old Shirley Marie Bell.

The body of the little girl, who had been strangled to death with her bright-hued skipping rope, was found yesterday in a shallow grave in a wild, brush-covered area of Lytle Creek, four miles northwest of San Bernardino.

The girl had been criminally attacked, according to a preliminary medical examination.

Pledges Army Support
Sheriff E. L. Shay declared that every man in his office will be used in tracking down the slayer. Major General Walter K. Wilson, commanding southern California defenses, pledged army support in the manhunt. He said that as many soldiers as the sheriff might require would be available.

Discovery of the body brought to a tragic close a search in which 400 soldiers, C.C.C. enrollees, Boy Scouts and others participated after it was learned she never had arrived at school for which she started Monday morning.

Playmates reported they had seen her riding before school time on the handlebars of a bicycle pedaled by a poorly dressed man they judged to be about 30 years old. They could furnish only a meager description of the man. H. C. Boone, a rancher, said Shirley was crying and appeared to be riding against her will.

Body Is Found

The girl, a dancer of considerable talent despite her tender age, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell of San Bernardino.

Her body was found by Policeman Lee I. Ross and two Mexican searchers who followed bicycle tracks discovered on a dirt roadway. The tracks revealed tragically the progression of events that culminated in Shirley's death.

The bicycle tracks led toward Lytle Creek and showed where the man and girl, unable to ride in the sand which they encountered here, had dismounted.

For a short distance the two walked along together, with the man pushing the bicycle. Then there were signs of a struggle as the little girl evidently put up a fight for her life. Sagebrush and cactus were broken and trampled.

The tracks in the sand then showed that the slayer dragged the child's body for almost 100 yards to a sandbank where he buried her by placing her body close to the sandbank and then caving the bank over the body.

A corner of Shirley's red lunchbox sticking up through the sand marked her improvised grave.

Buses Travel 1800 Miles Daily In City

Day by day, and night by night, local people are becoming bus-minded, and as a result of the operation here of a fleet which operate approximately 1,800 miles daily, some people have garaged their cars to save tires and others are riding instead of walking.

This is the opinion of General Manager Thomas C. Moore who was asked today for a few "sidelights" concerning the new transportation method.

The Highland avenue-Mahoningtown route is the longest, each roundtrip being about 11 miles in length. The East Side-West Side route is the next longest and the Croton avenue - North Jefferson street route is the shortest.

Buses on the Highland avenue-Mahoningtown route travel about 900 miles daily, 600 miles on the East Side-West Side "run" and 300 miles on the Croton avenue-North Jefferson street route.

The operation begins at 4:40 a. m. and ends at 2:20 a. m. the following day or in other words there is only slightly more than two hours when no bus is in operation.

Some Delays

Twenty-nine operators are employed and with each succeeding day they are overcoming many of the obstacles which confronted them when they first unleased a brake and stepped upon the gas.

One of the days encountered last week was a 13-minute tie-up at the Mahoning avenue railroad crossing and drivers are encountering delays in Long avenue according to General Manager Moore of the S. V. T. company.

Parking on both sides of Long avenue hinders the operation of a bus and any other vehicle at the same time in the section and he believes that parking on one side of the thoroughfare would help move riders faster.

Another move that has increased bus riding here is the fact that some motorists who formerly "picked up" persons on street corners who were en route to or from employment places have ceased to do so. In some cases because they no longer drive cars but ride buses and also because of the likelihood of an accident and a resultant suit for damages.

The S. V. T. company headquarters is still in the street car barns. The offices will continue to be there for possibly several weeks. As soon as the new quarters in Taylor street are arranged for the convenience of only employees but also for garaging buses the entire shift will be made.

Uses Cattle Iron On Tires To Foil Theft Effort

(International News Service)
GLADEWATER, Tex.—When the government began rationing tires H. R. Shockley, of Glade-water, got out his old "Lazy S" branding iron and went to work.

Shockley, a former Nebraska stockman, and manager of Glade-water's city water department, heated his branding iron and burned the emblem on the sidewall of each tire as he once branded cattle and horses.

"I may not keep my tires from being stolen, but the thief who starts to get rid of his goods will have double trouble," Shockley explained.

To Darken Dome On Court House

MERCER, Feb. 4.—It is not entirely a coincidence that the commissioners have decided to replace the white tile dome of the court house and that the nation is at war and might be air raided.

It is true that the tile covered dome leaks and is in disrepair, but it is also true that a recent air raid defense survey report states that "the court house dome sticks out like a sore thumb on the landscape" and that it "could and undoubtedly would be used as a guide post for enemy aviators."

The commissioners are planning to cover the dome with some dull metal in the spring. Not so many months ago they were considering a suggestion to floodlight it at night.

NO. 27 EXPENSES OF FARMERS

A farmer who operates a farm for profit is entitled to deduct from gross income as necessary expenses all amounts expended (other than those constituting capital expenditures) in the carrying on the business of farming. The cost of feeding and raising livestock may be treated as an expense deduction insofar as such costs represent actual outlay, but not including the value of farm produce grown upon the farm or the labor of the taxpayer. Also deductible is the cost of seed, minor repairs to farm buildings (other than the dwelling of the farmer), and small tools used up in the course of a year or two.

The cost of fuel and oil used for farm work, as well as repairs and maintenance of farm machinery, is deductible as a business expense; but the cost of farm machinery, equipment, and farm buildings represents a capital investment and is not an allowable deduction. The cost, however, may be recovered by depreciation allowances. The cost of gasoline, repairs and upkeep of an automobile if used wholly in connection with the taxpayer's farm operations, as well as depreciation thereon, may be deducted, but if an automobile is used partly for business and partly for pleasure or the convenience of the taxpayer or his family, the cost of operation may be apportioned according to the extent of the use for purposes of business and for pleasure or convenience, and the portion attributable to business will be deductible as a necessary business expense.

The cost of hired laborers and hired machines on a farm and the part of the board which is purchased for hired laborers are deductible. The value of products furnished by the farm and used in the board of hired laborers is not a deductible expense. Rations purchased and furnished to laborers or sharecroppers are deductible as a part of the labor expense. Amounts paid to persons engaged in household work to the extent that their services are used in boarding and otherwise caring for farm laborers are deductible, but amounts paid for services of such employees engaged in caring for the farmer's own household are not a deductible expense.

Amounts expended in the development of farms, orchards, and ranches prior to the time when the productive state is reached may be regarded as investments of capital. The cost of planting trees, as well as the amounts expended by a farmer in the restoration of soil fertility preparatory to actual production of crops and the cost of liming soil to increase productivity over a period of years are capital expenditures; but the cost of commercial fertilizers, the benefit of which is of short duration and which have to be used every year or so, even after a farm reaches the productive state, is deductible as an expense.

Amounts expended in purchasing work, breeding, or dairy animals are regarded as investments of capital and may be depreciated unless such animals are included in inventory.

MIAMI, Fla.—Taking a tip from the management of the Roney-Plaza Hotel in across-the-bay Miami Beach, Postmaster George E. Merrick today was recommending to other postmasters in the county: Have hotel desk clerks present each guest, upon registration, with a defense stamp album, including a brand new 25-cent defense stamp pasted on the first blank.

It was the brainchild of Hazen J. Titus of the Roney Plaza. He passed the word along to Postmaster Merrick, who in turn tipped off contemporary postmasters that the plan "would bring in hundreds of thousands of dollars in defense bonds."

U. S. WOMEN SHORTER, BROADER

Washington may have been turned upside down by the turmoil of the war effort, but the department of agriculture has found time to digress from the humdrum of regular agricultural research to discover, so it says, that the "mean" physique of American women is considerably shorter and broader than that of the usual "glamor" girl. Statistics of the mean—or average—woman are: height, five feet three inches; weight, 133½ pounds; neck, 15.27 inches; bust, 35.52 inches; waist, 29.15 inches; hips, 38.82 inches. Two Walter Thornton models demonstrate the two types, above. Joan O'Neill, left, represents the "mean" woman. Jane Quick, the glamor type.

Rev. Herman Patton Is Kiwanis Speaker

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 4.—Assembling last evening at the Trinity Lutheran church dining room, members of the Kiwanis club heard a thoughtful address by Rev. Herman Patton, pastor of the First Christian church.

Rev. Patton, presented by Rev. H. P. Loch, based his talk on the theme, "God Bless America." He pointed out that America had been more abundantly blessed than other countries, and that a country that disregards the divine powers has no right to ask or expect special blessings.

Next week's meeting will be in the form of an Americanism program, with Charles Baird in charge.

Mrs. Jacob Smith of Rockdale spent Monday with relatives at Coraopolis.

GOLDBLUM STARS AS TITANS DOWN GENEVA FLIPPERS

Westminster Gains Revenge
By 40-31 Count, Goldblum
Scores 12 Points

CAPACITY GALLERY SEES GAME TUESDAY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 4.—With tactician Charles "Goldie" Goldblum enacting the role of offensive and defensive tycoon, Westminster College gained revenge in New Wilmington, Tuesday night, defeating a game Geneva College quirt, 40-31, before more than 1,000 spectators.

All the game's thrills were packed in the final four minutes of action when Geneva, trailing 30-20, unfurled a mad dash that put the Coyotes right in the running again. 30-27, Goldblum pumped in his fifth deuce under the rime and a minute later his sixth fielder to smash Geneva's chances.

Titans Lead, 10-7

The Titans started off well, snatching a 7-1 lead in the opening minutes. DeVenzio, Visciarelli and Billie found the range and cut the deficit. Spak, Wask and Fox led the attack as Westminster sported a 10-7 lead in the first.

The teams' inaccuracy in canning field goals stood out like a sore thumb in the second. Westminster took 11 shots before scoring. Joe Spak hitting from deep side, Wask's layup flip constituted the Titans' points for the second. Geneva did slightly better, getting a half dozen points. The half count favored the Washabachmen, 14-13.

Geneva Show

At the start of the third, Freshman Goldblum staged a spectacular one-man show. After canning two double deuckers in the opening minute, the tall Pittsburgher came back with two more players under the hoop a minute or so later to put the Titans out front 22-14. Wask and McIlhenny, a sub, divided seven other points as Westminster led 29-20 at the close of the third.

Suddenly, Geneva came to life and engineered a rally. Billie and Rayz hit seven points while the Titans scored one. With four minutes to go and Geneva trailing 30-27, Goldblum again stepped into the picture, meshing two pretty fielders under the hoop. Ridd added a pair of free

Seven Burned To Death By Fire Near Emlenton

Young Boy Escapes Flames But Is Critically Burned This Morning

(BULLETIN)

International News Service

EMLENTON, Pa., Feb. 4.—Seven persons were burned to death early today in a fire that razed their small one-story frame home in the little community of Turkey City, near here. An eighth person was burned seriously, and was not expected to live.

Those who perished in the flames were: Harry Elder, 36; his wife, Dorothy Bell, 35; and four of their children: Joan, seven; Margaret, five; Donna, three; Mary, two; and Mrs. Elder's niece, Elsie McKarns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKarns, of Washington, Pa.

Ernest Elder, 14, a son, managed to escape through a window, but was taken to Oil City hospital, where attaches said his condition was critical. They said they did not expect him to survive his burns.

The fire, of undetermined origin, destroyed the four-room, one story home shortly before five o'clock this morning.

The McKarns girl had been staying with the Elders while her mother awaited the birth of another offspring.

Gunners In U. S. Fleet Are Crack Marksmen

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff

ABOARD A MAN-O-WAR WITH THE U. S. PACIFIC FLEET, Feb. 4.—The mountain boys with their squirrel rifles and the juvenile shooting gallery experts from the cities have grown up and now handle rifles of considerably longer range and larger caliber, but they're lost none of the amazing skill with firearms which sets American boys apart from the youth of the rest of the world.

For years, during the recent era of deceptive peace, gunners of the United States fleet run up records which were challenged in vain by the other great powers. And now our bluejackets have carried their peace-time skill and accuracy undiminished into the unrelenting war in the Pacific.

During the past few hours the heavy cruiser on which this correspondent is riding in an occasional successful search for hostile craft far from American shores has been jumping, shivering and shakily like a giant with a sharp attack of tropical fever, the result of a session which the above mentioned grown-up boys have had with the over-sized weapons entrusted to their capable hands.

Through a pair of powerful glasses from the communications bridge I checked their efforts and can fervently add I'm glad this ship is not on the distant horizon, at least not at the point where our gunners have been concentrating their attentions. A general quarters alarm preceded the gunplay. By the time I ran from my room to the bridge, all officers and men were at battle stations, every gun manned and loaded with shells ready to wing their deadly way to far-off targets.

Commence Firing
Almost immediately a cool voice behind me spoke into a loud speaker system.

"Commence firing," said the voice steadily and without emotion. The big guns answered in unison with a terrific crash. A great belt of fire and smoke encompassed the ship from stern to stern. The blockading craft at full speed seemed to jump out of the water. Then it heeled over and came up sharply with another salvo. Although anicipating what was coming, the first salvo set me back like a hard right to the chin, and the succeeding blasts kept me staggering until I grabbed something held on and remembered what I was there for.

"At that I did better than a cameraman who was with me a few years ago when a ship started firing in practice. At the first salvo he hit the deck flat on his back with his camera on top of him and stayed down for the count."

It takes takes an incredibly long time for a shell to reach its mark. Finally oriented, I focused my glasses and watched the initial explosives land. They were close enough to the fast-moving target to shower it with water or something more substantial.

And from then on they dropped either on their mark, or so close that any Japanese in the vicinity, say a Japanese submarine, must have thought he was being peppered with gigantic birdshot.

As the big guns eased off, the heavy machine guns took up the car-shattering chorus, their vicious chattering telling a story of a stream of death moving through the air over the sea, not unlike a fine stream from a fire hose under fantastic pressure.

Then came the cool voice again, with the admonition: "Cease firing." From an inferno of noise, smoke and fire, the ship at once was startlingly quiet, and sailing smoothly, only wisps of smoke from the guns trailing behind us.

Going down from the bridge, I passed a turret just being emptied of its men.

"One, pushing back the flash hood from his black hair, said in the slow drawl of the Texas plains: 'That gun shoots right where she's pointed.'"

Enumerates The 'Four Horsemen Of War Panic'

International News Service

HARRISBURG—Rumors, threats, fatigue and malnutrition are the "four horsemen of war panic," according to Dr. Charles Burlingame, psychiatrist.

Dr. Burlingame told delegates to the second Pennsylvania Health Institute at Harrisburg that it was of "primary importance that the public become acquainted with the implications of psychological warfare; what they mean, what can be done to check them."

"Mental health today is a national problem with national fighting power the stake," he declared. Fatigue and malnutrition, he added, have been allowed to "grow up until they have become the two most powerful fifth columnists in the country."

"Pessimism, forebodings, gloom, fear, inefficiency and all other earmarks of the neurosis flourish in those who are not properly nourished," Dr. Burlingame said. "These are the people who are fertile soil for the seeds of foreign propaganda—these are the people who listen and succumb to the dictators' weapons of threat and rumor."

Museums Will Move Treasures During Air Raids

International News Service

PHILADELPHIA—Philadelphia's museums have completed detailed plans for the protection of their priceless exhibits in event of an air raid.

The Philadelphia Museum of Art has compiled a list of "A-1" things which are to be moved to bomb-proof storage at the first warning by officials. The Pennsylvania Historical Society has decided to place its 10 most valuable items to bank vaults and to move other precious objects to fireproof storage.

Franklin Institute is considering a special shelter for its Pels Planetarium, and has already placed a number of irreplaceable objects in a vault in the basement.

Fifteen or twenty of the most valuable paintings at the Pennsylvania Academy will be moved to a place of safety, and the Carpenters' Hall, where the first Continental Congress met, has had its records in bank vaults for some time, officials said.

It isn't true that we can't make new friends when youth is gone. The trouble is that we get too damned particular.

Field And Fruit Crops Decreased

Yield Slightly Under Preceding Year But Up To Average Of Decade

PRICES WERE 15 PER CENT HIGHER

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 4.—Principal field and fruit crops grown in Pennsylvania during 1941 registered a 15 per cent increase in value over the previous year, the federal-state crop reporting service estimating the value of the 1941 crop at $155,351,000 as compared with $135,345,000 in 1940.

Combined production of the 1941 field and fruit crops was two per cent below that of 1940 but was equal to the average production of the past decade. A two per cent gain in production was recorded by Pennsylvania field crops during the past year, while the fruit crops, with the exception of apples and cherries, showed a slight decrease.

Pennsylvania's 1941 hay crop was 16 per cent below the total harvested in 1940. This large decrease was attributed in part to the dry season and labor shortage. Favorable yield of corn and oats during the past year, however, added materially in bringing the total production of other feed crops three per cent above the figure of 1940. The good corn crop also prevented a shortage of feed this winter in many localities.

The cash crop of potatoes in 1941 was two per cent above that of 1940. Yields and quality exceeded 1940 but acreage harvested was 10,000 acres less. The tobacco crop, too, was of an exceptionally high quality with an increase in cash value of two per cent over 1940.

Spread of the war has not changed the outlook of farmers for a record year in 1942. British consumption of United States farm products during the current year is expected to be doubled, while the higher income of the American consumer will increase the domestic demand.

A total of 12,649 pounds of tomato seed from 185 acres of the 1941-crop has been certified by the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture. This amount is slightly higher than the poundage certified from an equal number of acres in 1940. The seed produced in that year was 14,951 pounds from 208 acres. The number of acres entered last year for certification and inspected by the bureau agents was 201 as compared with 219 in 1940.

There is good with the bad. We've lost much in the Pacific, but the New York News is again American.
